

Mrs. Schelin's Class Notes
March 2020

March 31, 2020

Good morning guys... We got three out of four going on yesterday's meteor math drill. One of those puppies was headed for Earth, so thanks for doing your part. Whew.

Let's do some exploring around today: We're going to try a little Khan Academy math. I think (emphasis on think) I've set up a classroom for you properly, and...

...you and your parents will soon receive an invitation to join it: your MLMS login name, password (please don't, repeat don't, change it), and class code.

(Some of you have set up your own account in the past weeks. Please use the one I send you for my assignments.)

Once you get in, I'd like you to take the Course Challenge for the level or levels I tell you. This is just for placement. You get to the Course Challenge by:

1. ...clicking on Courses at the topmost left (the one next to Search).
2. Then click on the level I've told you. The various parts of it will appear. Feel free to look around them.
3. There's a list along the left side that shows Course Summary. At the bottom of the list is Course Challenge -- look for the little guy made of a green box wearing a crown.
4. Click on Course Challenge. It'll take you through 30 questions.

When you finish, explore the site and various levels of math. Heck, do a lesson or two. I should be able to see your results and will send you a short-ish follow-up assignment later today.

Okay! Let's see if this works! I'll be away at a doctor's appointment for most of the morning but will be back online this afternoon. (No worries, I'm not sick! But maybe you should send me some ice cream anyway, just in case.) Bests Mrs. S.

Hola chicos! Cómo están?

This is Miss Craft and Wednesdays will be Spanish day! We will be using a website called Duolingo schools.duolingo.com

You will receive an email from me with your username and password. Once you sign in please take the test. Take your time to do it, it's fun! Be sure to have speakers in order to be able to hear. Once you're done you will find out that I already gave you some assignments. You will see that I also set a goal of 30 min of work, that's the highest time the website allows me to pick but just use whatever time you need to complete the assignments. Also, once you're in your page you will see on the left bar some titles. Click to "class activities" and then click to "tinycards by Duolingo" and it will direct you to "pinned decks". Click that. Then select "Spanish Basics 1" and work with that. You have until next Tuesday night to complete it and then Wednesday morning you will receive your next assignments. They are set to unlock around 9 am every Wednesday.

Please, have fun, enjoy and if you have any questions don't hesitate on contacting me.

Hasta luego!
Miss Craft
